REPORT OF THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY BOARD.

Since the organization of the American Bible Society in 1816 it has moved steadily on with but one purpose in view, the glory of God, and the best interest of the race of men, and it is hoped in its functioning that the church will ultimately be able to print the Bible in every language and dialect.

There is no other institution upon which the church can more surely rely for it is a very part of the church militant and it shall reap its reward with the church triumphant.

Millions of the tribes of earth will sing its praises among the blood washed in heaven.

It has never failed to answer every call and has met every demand made upon it so far as its means would permit. And it has been so aggressive that it has gone beyond the borders of civilization and entered without hesitation the habitation of cannibals, and through its influence the man eating savage has been transformed into a child of God, making the desert in human life to blossom as a rose.

This society in one hundred and five years has issued 137,903,939 volumns of the scriptures and its annual budget amounting to 1,250,000 is dependent upon the liberality of the people who are interested in the promotion of its missionary program both at home and abroad.

REPORT OF THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY BOARD.

Since the organization of the American Bible Society in 1816 it has moved steadily on with but one purpose in view, the glory of God, and the best interest of the race of men, and it is hoped in its functioning that the church will ultimately be able to print the Bible in every language and dialect.

There is no other institution upon which the church can more surely rely for it is a very part of the church militant and it shall reap its reward with the church triumphant.

Millions of the tribes of earth will sing its praises among the blood washed in heaven.

It has never failed to answer every call and has met every demand made upon it so far as its means would permit. And it has been so aggressive that it has gone beyond the borders of civilization and entered without hesitation the habitation of cannibals, and through its influence the man eating savage has been transformed into a child of God, making the desert in human life to blossom as a rose.

This society in one hundred and five years has issued 137,903,939 volumns of the scriptures and its annual budget amounting to 1,250,000 is dependent upon the liberality of the people who are interested in the promotion of its missionary program both at home and abroad.

The Scriptures have been published in sixty-eight different languages and six systems of embossed type for the blind alone, and they have also been published in seven hundred and twenty-five languages and dialects throughout the world up to the end of the year 1920. The Bible as a whole has been published in one hundred and fifty-nine languages, and the New Testament in one hundred and thirty-eight more, and portions consisting of at least one book in feur hundred and twenty-eight more.

It is now taking up the task of supplying without compensation the penitentiaries and schools of reform throughout this broad land with copies of the Scriptures, and it therefore commands the respect of the entire civilized world.

Over one hundred years of work in the interest of others in the publication of this Book of Books has produced great results. What an example of lofty aim and purity of purpose is shown by the persons constituting this society. Where is the publisher or company of men who can boast of such a record without profit. If the church in its entirety in its setting forth of the law of spiritual life would manifest such singleness of purpose the world would soon be won for Christ. This society has felt its responsibility and is meeting its obligations far beyond the anticipation of its most sanguine friends.

We, the committee, desire to impress upon the hearts and minds_ of this Conference the great need of co-operating heartily with this society in the effort it is making to fulfill its mission and glorify God upon the earth.

> J. R. KENDALL, Chairman. L. C. DE ARMOND, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF CHURCH EXTENSION.

The applications to this Board for assistance aggregate about three times the amount at hand for disbursement. This embarrassment is our usual annual experience.

Our appropriations are as follows: for churches: Crestwood, $335; Tolesboro, two churches, $50 each; Mt. Abbott, $250; Ravenna, loan, $600.

Parsonages, Quicksand, $250; Christiansburg, $100; Hazard, $500; Corbin, $250; Domino, $250; Lancaster, donation $300 and loan $500.

Our promise made several years ago to the Representative Church at Washington, D. C., has been only half redeemed. We have committed the remaining $1,500 to Mr. W. W. Ball to be provided through the Laymen's Movement at the earliest possible time.

Our pastors should study the Church Extension Hand Book prepared annually by the General Board. The Architectural Department of the Board should be consulted before any building project is enterprised. It can save you money and prevent mistakes.

The total income from all sources for the year ending with March, 1921, was $1,450,769, about $397,000 of this coming from the Centenary.

The general loan fund at that time was $1,836,623, and yet is hardly one-third large enough to yield the amount needed. This fund affords an attractive investment for benevolently inclined persons who have surplus property.

The small proportion of Centenary funds devoted to this cause is being prudently used as it is being collected. Pastors should keep at hand a supply of the pamphlet literature furnished free by the Board, to be placed as opportunities may be found.

W. R. JOHNSON, Chairman. W. D. WELBURN, Secretary.

CHRISTIAN LITERATURE.

Your Board of Christian Literature respectfully submits the following report:

- 1. We heartily endorse the memorial sent by this Conference to the General Conference touching the ownership and number of our Conference organs.
- 2. We recommend that the Central Methodist be included in the local budget of as many charges as possible, and where this is not possible or advisable, we recommend that the pastors use their utmost endeavor to place the Conference organ in every home of every charge.
- 3. We are glad to report that the Nashville Christian Advocate has 13,000 bona fide subscribers with new ones being added almost every day. The paper now reaches practically every state in the United States, and every continent of the world, and its growing constituency includes the representative men and women of the Church.

4. We recommend that the Central Methodist Publishing Commission for the Kentucky Conference, composed of B. C. Horton, R. M. Smith, and O. B. Crockett, be continued.

M. T. CHANDLER, Chairman.O. B. CROCKETT, Secretary.

THE CENTRAL METHODIST.

At our Conference sessions of 1918, the Kentucky and Louisville Conferences purchased the Central Methodist of Rev. W. A. Swift. Dr. W. E. Arnold was elected Editor and Business Manager. Collections taken at these Conferences seemed enough to pay the purchase price of the paper. For almost three years your Commission has published our Conference organ, which has steadily improved, until today, it ranks with the very best of our Conference organs.

In the fall of 1918 the office of the paper was moved to Louisville, and is now quartered in the "Temple."

The years of our ownership have been very strenuous ones, many perplexing difficulties have been met, no debt has been incurred, and with a clean list of a little more than six thousand subscribers, we report a balance in the treasury. Rev. S. A. Arnold has for some time been the Business Manager of the paper, and the financial report, hereto attached, shows how well he has done his work.

The Commission on Publication has elected Dr. W. E. Arnold, Editor, and Rev. S. A. Arnold, Business Manager and Treasurer, at a salary of $4,700 per year for the two, they to provide all needed office help.

Your Commission realizes the fact that our subscription list is entirely too small, and we urgently request the Conference to take such action as will provide for the constant enlargement of our subscription list.

After very careful consideration we have placed the subscription at $1.50 per year, for new subscribers and renewals.

We further recommend an assessment for the Central Methodist of $3,000 per year; $1,700 to the Louisville Conference and $1,300 to the Kentucky Conference, to be apportioned to the districts by the Commission on Finance as a part of the assessment for Conference work.

We further recommend that each Conference elect a Publication Commission composed of two preachers and one layman. This Commission to act for the Conferences in the running of the paper.

We desire to express our hearty appreciation and commendation of the work of our Editor and Business Manager, and also of the satisfactory service rendered by the Roberts Printing Co., of Frankfort, Ky.

The Central Methodist is ours, and we must provide for our own, and see to it that it continues to contribute to the success of all our work.

We rejoice to present to the Conference Rev. J. G. Aikin of the Louisville Conference, who by appointment of the Commission of Publication is to represent The Central Methodist before our Conference.

DAVID DAVIES, Treasurer.

REPORT NO. 1 BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The year now closing has been a most important one to our educational work, both in the college itself and in plans for its future. Work in the college has gone on smoothly and efficiently under the direction of Pres. W. B. Campbell, assisted by a strong faculty and with a student body of very fine spirit. During the past year our dormitory space was well filled. Before the close of the year it became evident that much more room would be needed for college students and for this and other reasons the Academy was discontinued, and several rooms partitioned off in the building formerly used for academy purposes, to be occupied by boys while an annex was rented for the use of the girls who could not be accommodated in the Hall for Women.

At the close of the opening day only a few vacancies remained in all our dormitories. With our dormitory space filled almost to its full capacity on the opening day we feel like a new day has dawned for our Kentucky Wesleyan College.

Of greatest possible importance is the work done during the Christian Education Movement. Under the efficient leadership of Rev. O. B. Crockett, our Conference Educational Secretary, and Mr. W. W. · Ball, who generously donated his full time to the task, our pastors almost without exception fully and wisely used the cultivation period which has left the importance of Christian Education so indellibly impressed upon our people that we may confidently expect increasing support both in students and in finances.

In the midst of great financial depression our people have pledged, according to reports of our Presiding Elders, approximately $350,000.00 on our askings of $520,000.00. The people of Winchester and Clark county are co-operating with the Board by undertaking to raise the sum of $125,000.00 which will go into an endowment fund to be administered by the Board. On this they have pledged about $46,000.00, which is included in the Conference pledge above, and propose to finish the task when times are more propitious. The work of cultivating the field, organizing the Movement and taking these pledges has been done at the very low cost of about 21-3 per cent.

We have been gratified at the many expressions from the brethren that they regard the task as unfinished and only waiting until business conditions are improved. In view of these facts we offer the following resolutions:

FIRST. We are gratified at the splendid progress that has been made toward the attainment of the five objectives of the Christian Education Movement. When all the conditions are taken into account, we believe that what has been accomplished is little short of marvelous. It is a great tribute to the faithful service and loyalty of our preachers and people who participated in it.

SECOND. We desire to emphasize the fact that the campaign is not closed and must not be until the entire quota for this Conference has been raised. We call attention to the fact that we have two full years from the time the Movement opened in which to take pledges and five years in which to raise the money. If our institutions needed $33,000,000.00 a year ago, the Movement has multiplied that need by awakening in our people a desire for Christian education. Our schools last year turned away 5,000 for lack of facilities and will probably lose 10,000 this year for the same reason. We are therefore in the midst of an uncompleted task. Every charge in Methodism has been assigned a definite part in the great co-operative effort of the church to solve its educational problems and it is hereby declared to be the policy of the Kentucky Conference to regard the quotas assigned heretofore as standing against their respective charges and districts until they are raised.

THIRD. We recommend that pastors and presiding elders urge prompt payment in every way possible, and that, as most subscriptions fall due in November, we fix the first week in November as Pay-Up-Week. Our college sorely needs the money and the co-operation of pastors, presiding elders and people is urged in an effort to secure the prompt payment of pledges.

FOURTH. We recommend that the presiding elders on the first round of quarterly conferences, under the question, "What is being done for Christian Education?" secure reports from pastors and charge collectors or directors concerning the quota and amounts already subscribed and concerning the general economic conditions in each charge. We further recommend that, wherever practicable, arrangements be made to finish the every-member canvass if same has begun and in case no canvass has been made, that one be inaugurated as soon as may be expedient. The full amount of each quota should be subscribed if possible by the General Conference of 1922.

FIFTH. We recommend that Rev. O. B. Crockett be appointed Conference Educational Secretary.

Very respectfully submitted, W. E. ARNOLD, President. C. H. GREER, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION-NO. 2.

Report number one your Board of Education gave a review of the financial achievements of the Christian Education Movement. Permit us now to call attention to the results in Life Service. One of the objectives was "To lead at least 5,000 young men and women to pledge themselves to devote their lives to the ministry, or to some other form of Christian service, and to seek a Christian education as a preparation for effective life service." While our people were making their splendid financial response our young people were making a more noble response by laying their lives upon the altar of the Church.

It is a matter of devout thanksgiving that at the close of the Movement the names of 4,838 young people, who had pledged themselves to some form of life service, had been received. Since that time the full quota of 5,000 has been reached. The fact that these young people must be educated before they can fulfill their vows and are wholly dependent on the Church to furnish schools and colleges where they may study and, in many cases, also financial aid, lays the Church under a tremendously increased responsibility.

The uneducated man has done a great work in Methodism but the time has now come when, not forgetting the indispensable spiritual qualifications, we must more and more insist that our preachers and workers be well educated. Therefore be it Resolved, First, That we urge our young preachers to take time and to make the needed sacrifice to attend college and the seminary before entering the active work.

Second, That we commend those undergraduates who have this year completed their courses of study in the Correspondence School, and strongly urge that all undergraduates register for their courses and begin work early in the year so that none may fail at our next Conference.

We gladly welcome any movement which aims to improve our public schools and we gladly endorse any sincere effort made to take the same out of partisan politics, and recommend that our people give most careful study to the two amendments now offered to our Constitution that they may be able to act intelligently on them.

We recommend that we pay out of the fund assessed for young ministers the tuition fees in our Correspondence School for all our undergraduates.

We recommend the assessment of $10,000.00 upon the Conference for Conference education and $800.00 for aid for young ministers.

We report the following educational statistics: Institutions, 1; Students, 165; Teachers, 16; Value of property $300,000.00 and $123,000.00 in endowment and other cash assets.

Very Respectfully submitted,

W. E. ARNOLD, Chairman. C. H. GREER, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

This year has been one of unprecedented success in the growth and development of the Epworth League. There has been an increase of 20 per cent. in the number of Epworth League chapters and of 18 per cent. in membership. The present number of chapters is 4,160, and league members 145,113. For the Africa Special the League contributed last year $65,250. For other objects $132,614—a total of $201,048.

The Fundamental Idea of the Epworth League is "The younger membership of the church organized for Christian fellowship and functioning in all departments of Christian life."

The League first introduced mission study into the church, and the majority of the recruits for the Mission fields have gone from the Epworth League. At present the Central office has more than 5,000 life service decision cards on file.

During the year there have been held thirty-seven Epworth League Conferences and assemblies. The Church-wide Presidents' meeting which meets during the winter is becoming one of great importance in Epworth League work. It is composed of all the Presidents of League Conferences and League Boards, and of Conference Junior and Intermediate Superintendents.

The Annual Conferences of the church have appropriated $25,-448, which is a very inconsiderable amount when compared with the amounts appropriated for Sunday School work and for other activities of the church. The League Conference this year is attempting to raise $3.126, $1,000 of which is asked of the Annual Conference, for the maintainance of their work. This is appropriated as follows. African Special, $1,500.00: Jenkins Kindergarten, $750.00: Conference Expenses, $876.00. Of the $1,000 asked of the Conference approximately one-fifth, or $200, are appropriated for the expenses of the Epworth League Board.

Attention of the pastors is called to the discrepancy in amounts reported on League Anniversary Day. Only about 50 per cent. of the amount reported was turned in last year. Anniversary Day collections should be sent to Miss Emma Bedford, 322 Clay St., Lexington, Ky.

The great need of Field Secretaries is being felt, and we are hoping for the time to arrive when we shall have one in every Conference.

The Junior and Intermediate Leagues are indispensable to the proper development and growth of our children, and their training in Christian work. No other auxiliary in the church can take their place and the church is blind to its own interests which substitutes other organizations, however good they may be, for these auxiliaries.

The General Secretary has been commissioned by the Board of Missions to study the matter of League organization in the Orient, and is in the Orient at this time, and visitation will be made studying the work in Mexico and Cuba. Appeals are also coming from Europe, and the League is being organized in the land of John Huss, and of Jerome of Prague.

The Epworth Era is enjoying the largest circulation of any time since it was enterprised, and is practically self-sustaining. The Hand Book of the Epworth League is a compendium of instruction in Christian activity, and every wide awake pastor has constant use for it in overseeing and developing the work of his young people.

Finally the League exists for the good of the church and not the church for the League. And the fruitage of the Senior, Intermediate. and Junior Leagues has been so well proven that no well informed Christian asks any more "Is the League necessary?" For he realizes that "The church without Leaguers today will be the church without Leaders tomorrow."

LAY ACTIVITIES.

We, the Committee on Lay Activities, beg to report as follows.

During the past year the Educational Movement has largely

During the past year the Educational Movement has largely claimed the attention of the District Lay Leaders and the Conference Lay Leader who was Conference Director of the Educational Movement.

We had a meeting Friday afternoon which was presided over by W. W. Ball, Conference Lay Leader.

This meeting was attended by three of the five District Directors and about twenty Lay Women and Laymen.

The meeting was addressed by Dr. R. L. Russell, Secretary of Department of Home Missions, on the importance of having Godly Laymen conduct services in the circuit churches when the pastors are absent.

We were also addressed by Mr. J. M. Way, Associate Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, who outlined the plans of the Laymen's Movement for greater activities in the future. The following resolutions were passed:

I. That the Conference and District Lay Leaders meet in Lexington, Ky., next January and adopt a program for 1922.

II. That as early after the January meeting as possible the Lay Leader of each District call a meeting of charge Lay Leaders to discuss the program for 1922, to elect a District Executive Committee, and to make plans for meetings of laymen in all of the charges.

III. That the laymen conduct prayer meetings regularly in circuit churches whose pastors cannot be present.

The literature of the Department of Spiritual Resources of the Missionary Centenary and General Board of Education may be used in this work.

We recognize the fact that our Educational task is unfinished. The quota for our Conference unraised, and we pledge our hearty support and co-operation to O. B. Crockett, our Educational Secretary, until the enterprise is consumated.

We recommend the re-appointment of W. W. Ball as Conference Lay Leader.

H. A. POWER, JAMES MORGAN, A. A. SHEARER.

REPORT NO. 1 OF BOARD OF MISSIONS.

The Board of Missions submits the following report:

In view of the fact that only about seventy-six per cent of the assessment was paid this year, we urge that the pastors put forth their best efforts to raise all of the assessments in full for the coming year.

We ask that the assessment on the Conference be made the same as last year.

We recommend for appointment as Conference Evangelists J. W. Hughes, Henry W. Bromley, and Andrew Johnson.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS AND RESOLUTIONS.

The Committee has considered a number of memorials to the General Conference, and recommend the adoption of the following:

(1) Boundaries; (2) Conference Organs; (3) Representation of Conference Misionary Boards on the General Board of Missions; (4) Right of way for the Superannuate Endowment Fund during the next quadrennium.

1. Boundaries:

Memorial to the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South, from the Kentucky Conference.

Dear Fathers and Brethren:

Whereas, Our Methodism in Kentucky, by Conference boundary lines, is cut into four pieces, two of these belonging to Conferences lying largely in other States;

And Whereas, This arbitrary and artificial division renders it impossible to mobilize and concentrate our forces in the State, and militates against many of the common interests of Methodism in the State of Kentucky, and being convinced that the interests of Methodism in Kentucky very greatly demand that there be not more than two Conferences in the State of Kentucky;

Therefore, the Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church, South, in annual session at Somerset, Ky., Sept. 7-12, 1921, hereby memorializes the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South, which is to meet in Hot Springs, Ark., in May, 1922, to amend Paragraph 738-(13), 1918 edition of the Discipline, by striking out the words "not included in the Western Virginia Conference." The amended paragraph to read as follows: Paragraph 738-(13). Kentucky Conference shall embrace all that portion of the State of Kentucky lying north and east of the following line: Beginning at the mouth of Harrod's Creek, on the Ohio River; thence running south on the northern line of the Middletown and Jeffersontown Circuits, to the Bardstown turnpike road; thence with said turnpike to Bardstown; thence with the direct road to Springfield; thence to the towns of Hayesville and Liberty; thence due south to the Cumberland River; thence up said river to the fork; thence up the South Fork to the Tennessee State line, including Liberty, and the strip lying between Wolf River and the Kentucky line.

B. C. HORTON, W. P. FRYMAN.

2. Conference Organs:

Whereas, Our Church now has sixteen conferences and one general organ, and whereas, many of these are conducted at a serious financial deficit, and are caused to eke out a precarious existence;

Therefore, The Kentucky Conference in Annual Session asembled respectfully memorializes the General Conference of our Church to district our territory, and provide for the Church ownership of all existing Conference organs, make six districts of our territory and arrange for the publication of a Christian Advocate for each district.

The editors of these papers to be elected, and their salaries fixed by the General Conference.

- 3. Representation of Conference Boards on the General Board of Missions. In order to strengthen and vitalize the relation between the Conference Boards of Missions and the General Board of Missions we respectfully memorialize the General Conference to give the Conference Boards representation on the General Board of Missions.
- 4. We respectfully request the General Conference to give right of way during the next quadrennium to the Superannuate Endowment Fund.

Respectfully submitted,

B. C. HORTON,

REPORT OF ORPHANS' HOME COMMITTEE.

We, your Orphans' Home Committee, hand you herewith the following report:

We have before us a detailed report from our Superintendant, E. S. Boswell, giving a clear idea of what had been accomplished during the year, both as to the physical improvement of all our property, as well as touching the more important fact of the development of the lives of our children.

We note with much pleasure the policy of the Home to prepare the boys and girls for a business life, qualifying them to make their own living, and preparing them so that they may stand mental tests with other boys and girls who have always had the best of opportunities.

The favorable report of the President, Mr. Lee Lewis, touching the health of the children, the management of the institution and the financial status is very gratifying indeed. Much improvement has been made without drawing on the endowment or reserve fund. The Home has handled seventy-five children during the year; placed out thirty-two in good homes and on the first day of September, still had forty-three under its care.

Your Committee would request that you confirm the election of John C. Strother, R. M. Smith, W. E. Arnold and J. F. Davis for three years which completes our Board with R. E. McDowell, Frank Kimbel, G. W. B. Olmstead and E. S. Boswell as members of the Board for two years, and S. O. Snyder, W. T. Baker, J. B. Lukins and Lee Lewis for one year.

We also recommend that you confirm the election of E. S. Boswell as Superintendant and Agent, and Mrs. Jessie Ray Williams as Matron. The President's report commends very highly the faithful service of these two workers.

We also recommend that some steps be taken to furnish a play room for our smaller boys in winter time, which from the reports we have received, is very much needed.

We append herewith the financial statement of the President.

C. P. PILOW, Chairman.

LEE LEWIS, President.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

We, your Committee on Sabbath Observance, submit the following report:

The widespread and appalling desecration of the Holy Sabbath day has become a national sin. The Church of God must wield her influence for the upholding of the Sabbath, and stand firm as never before.

The Sunday base ball, which has become prevalent in rural communities, as well as larger towns and cities; automobile riding for pleasure; the Sunday patronage of bathing beaches; the Sunday picture shows, are things that are resulting in dissipation and prodigality to our young people, and older as well, and from which they must be saved.

We observe that when our Conference adjourns on Sunday that many ministers and delegates leave on Sunday trains, thereby bringing severe criticism on our Church; therefore

We recommend that future sessions of the Kentucky Annual Conference shall adjourn at such a time as to eliminate Sunday traveling by those attending the Conference.

ROY H. KLEISER, Chairman. MISS OLIVIA E. ORR, Secretary.

REPORT OF SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD.

We are glad to report progress in our Sunday School work. From the office of the Sunday School editors come reports of a large increase in the circulation of Sunday School literature, which means that our schools are growing.

Under the energetic leadership of Mr. Dennis V. Snapp, our Conference Field Secretary, your Board is undertaking to organize the various districts and individual schools on the lines laid down by the General Sunday School Board. Already each district is organized with a full corps of voluntary workers corresponding to the departments at Nashville. We urge our superintendents, who have not already done so, to proceed at once to organize their schools on the departmental basis so as to secure concert of action throughout the Conference and the Church.

New Periodicals.

On January 1, 1922, three new periodicals will take the place of the Visitor, so long and so familiarily known to our Sunday School workers. To meet the diverse needs of growing boys and girls there will be a paper for boys only and one for girls only, between the ages on nine and seventeen. Another will supply the needs of young people of both sexes from eighteen to twenty-four. Already we have our "Our Boys and Girls" to supply the needs of children up to nine, so that with the launching of the new periodicals we will have literature to cover all the needs of developing youth. We urge that our pastors and superintendents at once acquaint themselves with these new periodicals so that they may be made to serve the needs of their schools to the best advantage without increased cost.

The Home Quarterly.

We call special attention to the Home Quarterly, as it has been enlarged to meet the needs of the larger field. It now contains ninety-six pages of reading matter in addition to the lesson text and treatment. It is a practical magazine for parents and a medium through which the Church may help to foster religious life in the home by serving as a guide in family worship. Pastors and superintendents should take advantage of this opportunity of stimulating religious nurture of childhood by organizing Home Departments in every church.

Teacher Training.

No more important work than teacher training has been launched nor has any grown more rapidly. Only five years after the election of the present Superintendent of Teacher Training, Rev. John W. Shackford, a teacher training literature covering nearly every need of the field has been created; two large summer training schools and a system of Conference, district and city training schools of standard type have been organized and brought to the point of assured success. Eighty of these standard training schools and multitudes of training classes in individual schools were held last year and from these over eleven thousand credits were given for work done.

The Training School for Christian Workers, held at Kentucky Wesleyan College, August 8-14, was an unqualified success in every respect except in attendance, which was much less than it should have been. However, the start made this year will enable us to secure a larger attendance at the next session. Teacher training is very vital to the Church and our Conference cannot afford longer to lag behind others. We most earnestly request our pastors and superintendents to take up and carry forward this work with all vigor.

Superintendent Conferences.

In order that our superintendents may come to know each other and may also know the methods used in our most up-to-date schools, we recommend that a series of District Conferences for Superintendents be held during the year for the benefit of our superintendents.

Sunday School Day.

The General Conference has provided that once a year Sunday School Day be observed for the purpose of laying before the Church the importance of Sunday School work, and what we are doing in it. We recommend that Sunday School Day be observed in our Conference on the third Sunday in May, or as near thereto as may be practicable.

We are your servants in the Sunday School work, which is one of the most important as well as most profitable works in which the Church can engage. We are trying to make progress in this work and earnestly ask the most hearty co-operation of all that we make a success of it.

Very respectfully submitted,

C. H. GREER, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE AND SOCIAL REFORM.

Your Committee, being near the sources of information, feel that, since the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment there has not been a more critical period faced by the temperance forces of the nation than confronts us at the present time. The greatest danger lies in the apathy of many of those who supported the prohibition cause who are under the delusion that the fight is all over.

It is believed by moral leaders that the wet forces have no hope that the constitutional act prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes will likely be revoked by the American people, but in keeping with their nefarious record in the past the wet element is strenuously attempting to nullify this part of our fundamental law by preventing suitable and necessary legislation by Congress to enforce the provisions thereof.

The liquor interests have over a score of nullification organizations committed to the overthrow of the moral results of a century of struggle. They are attempting two clearly defined things: First, Through a thoroughly organized and subsidized press they are carrying on an insidious campaign to break down respect for prohibition laws; and Second, They are feverishly working to elect on the one hand a Congress that will admit of a weak enforcement program, and on the other, city, county, and state officers who will either be favorable to the repeal of, or at least be apathetic to, prohibition laws. If the law abiding people of Kentucky do not become awakened to these dangers and bestir themselves, we are likely to be betrayed into the hands of the most despicable crowd that ever put a stain upon the American flag and an undeserved reputation on the American people.

Methodist ministers and Methodist people have always been in the front ranks of the prohibition forces. The Methodist Church contributed no small part in writing the Eighteenth Amendment into the Constitution of the Nation. Certainly our preachers and leading laymen and women, and the rank and file of our people as well, will take this matter to heart and be aroused to united action to prevent this greedy and conscienceless enemy of the human race accomplishing its ends in the November elections.

The Anti-Saloon. League is but the Executive Committee of the temperance people at large. We find that the league has a definite program, certain features of which we are not at liberty to disclose and which will be supremely valuable only as its officers can get hearty co-operation on the part of the preachers and other temperance people in the various sections of the state.

Every candidate known to be opposed to the prohibition cause must be defeated and every man committed to the enforcement of law must be elected. Dry laws will not be enforced by wet officers. Our knowledge of the situation constrains us to beg our people not to think that any office for which there are candidates is unimportant in this fight. Where a given man cannot be defeated his office may be such that his power for harm may be neutralized by the election in that very community of a good man for another office.

All candidates should be reminded that both the principal parties in their state conventions have repeatedly and very decidedly committed themselves to both the prohibition amendment and all laws necessary to its enforcement.

The issue before us is greater than any party issue and the way to dispose of it once for all is to overwhelmingly elect in November candidates who will do all in their power to uphold the law. It is no longer a question of prohibition; it is a question of law. Once regard for this, one of the fundamental laws of our land, is broken down, the door is opened to the disregard of other features of our democratic institutions and in the words of Attorney General Daugherty, "where law ends tyranny begins." The interests of our church and the concerns of the Kingdom of God, as well as the best interests of democracy, are involved in the coming conflict and we implore our people to do all in their power to completely defeat this last big effort of the liquor interests.

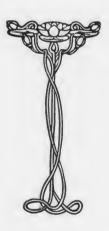

In keeping with these appeals we recommend that our preachers observe October 30 as the "Fight Not Over Sunday," which time the National Anti-Saloon League has designated for a nation-wide assault upon the ramparts of rum, details concerning which will in due time be sent to every preacher in the state.

We commend the faithful work of Dr. N. A. Palmer who has well represented the temperance people of the state as Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and we recommend his re-election for the ensuing year, and we declare our sympathies to be with the Anti-Saloon League, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and all other organizations whose aim is the annihilation of the last vestiges of the liquor traffic in America.

We herewith nominate as trustees of the Anti-Saloon League the following persons: W. E. Arnold, M. S. Clark, J. W. Gardner, James T. Morgan, and Ed. Mossbarger.

In conclusion your committee feels that since the Legislature of the State of Kentucky has made it possible for race track gambling to flourish again, this Conference must go on record in disapproval of its action and pledge its ministry and membership to strenuous opposition to this evil.

Respectfully submitted,
J. FRANK RICHARDSON, Chairman.
HENRY W. BROMLEY, Secretary.

Memoirs

It is easy to write the life sketches of some men. They are so like other men, and live so nearly as other men live, that an adequate summary of all they were, and of all they did, can be made in a few commonplaces and with a few stereotyped phrases. It is not so with W. B. Godbey. He was unlike any other man we ever knew. He lived as no other man lived with whom we have been acquainted. He did not look like other men, nor was his life pitched upon the plane of other men. We have never known one who was quite so indifferent to ordinary conventionalities, nor quite so dead to the world, nor quite so intent upon the achievement of the "one thing" to which he had dedicated his life. His passion for souls was all-consuming. For the sake of saving men he sacrificed things that many men hold most dear. He had a good home, but he did not stay in it. He was well provided for in the things of this life, but he used very few of these things. He was a student, and loved books as few men love them, yet he forewent the delights of a study. In dress, in personal habit, in social and family relations, he was indifferent to many things and ignored many things that are highly prized by others. He neither feared nor flattered the customs of society. He was not controlled by the opinions of other men, nor by their methods of serving the Master. He appeared odd; he incurred criticism from persons who knew little of his passion; he was often ridiculed and laughed at; but we never heard of his missing an opportunity to hold a revival when the way was open for it, nor of manifesting any indifference when it was possible for him to lead a soul to Christ. He might wear brogan shoes in summer and a linen duster in winter, but we never heard that he was careless of sinners, nor indefferent that saints should be clothed in garments becoming godliness.

Brother Godbey came of a very remarkable family. He was born in Pulaski county, Ky. His forebears were among the first to settle in the wilds of this section of our State. We have heard him tell of the Methodist circuit rider, who, in that early day, stopped at the cabin door of an Irish Catholic who had found his way into the wilderness and built him a little home beside a bridle path. The preacher talked and prayed with the family, and, with the consent of his host, left an appointment to preach upon his next round. The result of it was, that the Irishman was brought under deep conviction and was soon happily converted. He and his family became faithful members of the Methodist Church. Out of that family, including the Kellys, the Godbeys, the Ragans, the Vaughts, and others, there have come nearly one hundred Methodist preachers, some of them great men and able expounders of the gospel.

Dr. Godbey's father was a preacher. Rev. John Godbey married Orpha Kelly, daughter of the Irish Catholic whose conversion we have just mentioned. To them was born, on June 3, 1833, William Baver Godbey, the subject of our sketch. Several of the Godbeys have been noted for their remarkable memories and for strength of mind. From a child Brother Godbey showed that he shared, in an unusual degree, these family characteristics. His intellect was keen and he had ability to acquire quickly and to hold tenaciously whatever he took in hand. He seemed never to forget anything that he read. His power of concentration amounted to complete absorption, so that he was utterly oblivious to his surroundings. While a young man he attended school at Perryville, Ky., and afterwards graduated from Georgetown College. A classmate testifies that he never came up with an imperfect lesson. His gift for the languages was wonderful. We do not know how many of the languages he could read, but he read the Greek with as much facility as other men read the English. His vocabulary was extensive. He revelled in words. He studied words, he dug up words, he coined words, he used words that few other persons ever heard of! But living in this atmosphere, this nabit, which, in most persons, would have been mere pedantry and a most serious fault, was by him indulged with greatest simplicity and apparently without being conscious of it. The fault would have destroyed most men, but Brother Godbey succeeded in spite of it. His range of subjects and his information upon those subjects were truly encyclopedic. On a few occasions we have known him to abandon himself to the enjoyment of a friendly circle around the fireside, and then we never associated with a more entertaining and instructive man. Out of the storehouse of his really great mind, richly furnished through much reading and wide travel, he would bring forth incident and anecdote until the listener was lost in admiration and delight.

Brother Godbey was amenable to early religious influences. He was converted at sixteen, and licensed to preach at twenty. For several years he remained in the local ranks and taught school. He organized and was sole President of Harmonia College, at Perryville, Ky. Several preachers of the Kentucky Conference and some of our most worthy lay men and women were trained by him. While Harmonia College was a good school and was dignified by a high-sounding name, it would scarcely rank as a college now.

For the first fifteen years of his ministry, Brother Godbey was not remarkable as a preacher. His sermons were on intellectual themes and were tropical in expression and illustration, but without any unusual grip upon the consciences of his hearers. There were not many converts. He ran along ordinary lines and his penchant for unusual words brought many a smile from his congregations. But in 1868, in old Wesley Chapel, a few miles out from Perryville, he sought and experienced the blessing of entire sanctification. This revolutionized both his person, life and ministry. It gave him his passion for souls. It made of him a flaming evangelist and one of most successful revivalists of his day. It made him father and leader of one of the greatest revivals of his Church and the apostle of the modern Holiness Movement. At the time he received his Pentacostal experience, the churches in this part of Kentucky were in the midst of a priod of violent controversy. Methodism was fighting for its very life. Debates, especially debates upon the various phases of the ordinance of Baptism, were the order of the day. It was a time of immersionist and anti-pedobaptist bigotry and of most mendacious proselytism. Methodism arose in self-defense and won the conflict, conquering a peace; but this period of denominational militancy was also a period of spiritual declension. While the doctrines of the New Birth and of the Witness of the Spirit were not formally surrendered by Methodism, the experiences were not generally insisted upon, and hundreds were brought into the Church without any change of heart. What Bishop Pierce called "clear-cut, sky-blue conversions" were the exception and not the rule. Our meetings were held without a "mourners' bench," and testimonies to a conscious experience of saving grace were all too scarce. To W. B. Godbey more than to any other man is due the revival among us of these old Methodist doctrines and the restoration of the old time Methodist usages and experiences.

Brother Godbey joined the Kentucky Conference in 1866. It was just after the close of the Civil War. The "Loyal Eighteen" had located in 1865, and our Conference was suffering from scarcity of men. Brother Godbey came into the Conference, but for several years continued his work in his school and served charges within reach of Perryville. About 1870 he gave up Harmonia College and entered regularly upon the itinerant service. Revivals sprang up everywhere he went. When he was appointed Presiding Elder of the Barboursville District it was soon ablaze with revival flames. For many years you could hear at the testimony meetings in any part of that district the statement, "I was converted under W. B. Godbey at such a time and place." Brother Godbey could preach in more school houses, visit and pray with more families, and hold more protracted meetings in out-of-the-way places than any man of his day.

But Brother Godbey was neither a pastor nor a Presiding Elder. He knew nothing of organization and conservation, and gave himself little concern about the management of the affairs of charge or district. He was an evangelist, and this alone occupied his mind and engaged his effort. His charges prospered in revivals only. He used both the pastorate and the Presiding Eldership as occasions to evangelize, and had no genius for the detail work necessary to permanency and to the great program of the Church. When the writer was a boy and Brother Godbey was on the Sharpsburg and Bethel circuit, he preached nearly every day in the week—in private homes, in school houses, in abandoned churches, everywhere he could get a hearing over a wide scope of country round about his charge. But the work was like a rope of sand. Like Whitefield, he left his converts to the care of some one else, or to the tender mercies of a godless world. While some remained faithful, many fell a prey to the roaring lion who goeth about to devour.

His gifts as a revivalist becoming recognized, and having so great a passion for this work, of course his brethren called him to their help, and it became increasingly difficult for him to stay with . any charge to which he was appointed. Temperamentally and of choice he was a gospel ranger. Hence, at the Conference of 1884, upon the advice of Bishop McTyeire, he located and went into the field as an evangelist. For several years thereafter the columns of the Central Methodist abounded with accounts of great meetings held by him in the Kentucky and Louisville Conferences, and in Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, and other States. The hearts of the people were stirred as by the voice of one of the old prophets. Thousands were converted and professed the experience of "Perfect Love." Out of his abundant labors sprang one of the greatest revivals of modern times. Largely through his preaching and writings, the Wesleyan doctrine of Entire Sanctification as a Second Work of Grace, receivable by faith in the all-atoning blood, was brought back to Methodism. More than any other man he is the father of the so-called Holiness Movement of the present day. When the history of the Church is written, the name of W. B. Godbey will loom large in that part of it dealing with the revival which came to Methodism during the latter part of the last century.

During the years of his evangelism, Brother Godbey travelled far and wide. He visited almost every State in the Union and held meetings. Camp meetings and holiness conventions were the places of his chief delight. He made four trips to Palestine, and travelled around the world on a tour of evangelism. As he got away from home, Brother Godbey, in our opinion, made the serious mistake of drifting away from his Church. While his labors were given in connection with the Church, and the results were conserved under the nurturing care of the Church, he was wonderfully used in reviving God's work. But when he drifted out into independent movements, giving his strength to independent meetings and groups and papers and schools, his life counted for little that is abiding and blessed. A friend and admirer of his remarked to us, that the last ten or fifteen years of Dr. Godbey's life had counted for little that would endure.

Yet, his heart yearned for the fellowship of his brethren of the Kentucky Conference and he longed to die with them. In 1918, he came to our Conference asking to be readmitted, that he might die a member of the body to whose service he had given the years of his mature manhood. The Conference gladly re-admitted him and he died a member of our body, September 12, 1920.

This sketch is already too long, but much remains to be said. We touch but a few of these things.

Everybody recognized Brother Godbey as a good man. Odd, he might be; but goodness was a quality ascribed to him by all. He was so unlike others in mental endowment, in his views of life, in his aspirations, in the things he valued or ignored, that of course he appeared eccentric; an angel would appear eccentric to us. His natural eccentricities were accentuated by his religion. This to him was everything. It fully occupied him; absorbed all his time and thought and energy; and furnished the whole reason for being. For the sake of religion, he turned aside from everything else, wished for nothing apart from it, valued nothing that did not minister to its attainment or to his development in it, was dead to all outside the range of the religious life. To persons who set much store to the things of this world, of course any man was eccentric who did not care for the same things, and who put so little estimate upon what they estimated so highly. The outstanding characteristic of Brother Godbey was his religion.

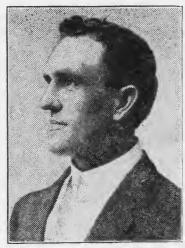

As a preacher, Brother Godbey was not to be tried by any of the rules of homiletics. Effectiveness was his aim. Not the sermon, but the thing to be accomplished gave him concern. During the later years of his ministry, he seldom preached set sermons. He was so full of the truths of the Scriptures, and had such a gift of seizing upon the right truth, and such facility in presenting it to his hearers that he adopted his themes and sermon matter largely to the occasion. He had a vivid imagination and wonderful descriptive powers. Under the touch of his genius Bible incidents lived again and fairly assaulted the consciences of the people who heard. Once Brother Godbey announced as his text the passage, "Escape for thy life." It was a description of Lot's flight from Sodom. Before he had finished his sermon men were standing on their feet and many weeping as though their hearts were broken. He appealed much to the law. Sinai thundered; the lightnings of God's wrath played about the sinner until he trembled and yielded, or else fled the scene. Brother Godbey's description of the sinner's progress down the Black Valley railroad to Death and Destruction was the most awful piece of sacred oratory we ever heard. On the other hand, when portraying the beauties of holiness, the privileges of the saints, and the glories of the ransomed in heaven, we have seldom heard one who was more persuasive and appealing than he. Moreover he had that mysterious something called power. His preaching was in demonstration of the Spirit and power.

During the time when debates upon baptism were so common in Kentucky, Brother Godbey took an active part in the controversy. His keen penetration of the heart of a subject, his thorough knowledge of the Scriptures in the original languages, his wonderful memory, his gift of repartee, his power of invective, and his clear and concise way of putting his points made him an antagonist which no opponent cared to tackle a second time. One of our preachers told the writer that, after a debate held by Dr. Godbey in a certain place, he baptized nearly every baby in that entire section. Brother Godbey used to say that it took him only half of his allotted time to answer the arguments of his opponents, and that he used the rest of it in preaching the gospel. It was somewhat disconcerting to his antagonist to have the debate interrupted by a shout or by the sobs of sinners weeping over their sins. He held many debates, and contributed no little to the conquest that followed this militancy on the part of Kentucky Methodism.

As a writer, Brother Godbey was voluminous. His most pretentious books are his Commentaries on the New Testament. While useful, these will hardly abide. They lack carefulness of preparation. They were thrown together too hastily, and the author indulged too much his inclination to read into the text what he wanted there, for his undoubted scholarship to be taken seriously and for his comments to be of lasting good. His books on the Holy Land were excellent; but perhaps his very best are his small treatises on controversial themes. We have seldom seen any thing clearer or more convincing than his booklets on baptism and Bible Holiness.

Dr. Godbey was a rare character. We shall not see his like again. He would have made an ideal pioneer preacher, but he came a little too late to be a pioneer. He was the last of his order. He has no successor and will not have. He wrought well in his day, and in his way. God through him revived His Church and saved many souls. If the ministry of the present day will aspire to his great consecration without his mannerisms; if they will enter into his marvelous spiritual experiences, and let the abounding life of Holy Ghost flow out through channels of zeal and power appropriate to themselves and to the generation they serve, then the life and character of W. B. Godbey will be as precious to Kentucky Methodism as was the dust of that ancient prophet whose bones quickened into life again the dead man who was put into his grave.

REV. FRANKLIN TAYLOR McINTIRE.

Franklin Taylor McIntire was born in Nicholas County, Ky., in 1867. He was the product of a Christian home. As with Timothy, so with Brother McIntire, the faith that was in him dwelt first in his grandmother, and even in his great grandmother. If his grandmother, Hannah West, and his mother, Mrs. William McIntire, had lived in the days of early Methodism, they would have been mentioned along with such saints as Grace Murry and Hester Ann Rogers. His father was for many years an official member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. South.

It is not surprising that Bro. McIntire was converted while young. We do not yet know just how much we are indebted to the prenatal influences of a Christian parentage; but we do know that a goodly father and mother in many ways leave to their children a heritage more precious than gold. A blood free from the taint of dissoluteness; a brain unclouded by the effects of dissipation; nerves that are steady and strongthese are some of the physical advantages coming to the posterity of the righteous. But is there not also the transmission of mental and moral benefits as well? When one's being is saturated, as it were, with the consciousness of God and the heart is filled with His love; when the mind is constantly occupied with thoughts of Him, and the soul is habituated to prayer, do not some results of these mental and moral attitudes come down even to the third and fourth generation, making it easier for the children of these generations to seek and to find God? Not only did Brother McIntire have the sacred heritage of a godly ancestry, but he grew up in the wholesome atmosphere of a Christian home. The reading of God's word, the daily gathering at the family altar, religious conversation and the companionship of religious people were his. Furthermore, he enjoyed the privileges of one of the most spiritual of the churches in the Kentucky Conference. Old Cassidy Creek Church has sent into the ministry nearly one hundred ministers. It is not to be wondered at, then, that when, in 1882, Dr. W. B. Godbey conducted revival services in that old church, the lad of fourteen should give his heart to God and become the subject of a most gracious experience of salvation. Later, under the ministry of Mrs. Miranda Vornholtz and her daughter, he professed entire sanctification and dedicated his life to the ministry.

Brother McIntire spent four years or more in preparation for his life's work in Kentucky Wesleyan College, being there from 1887 to suasive and appealing than he. Moreover he had that mysterious something called power. His preaching was in demonstration of the Spirit and power.

It is not to be wondered at, then, that when, in 1882, Dr. W. B. Godbey conducted revival services in that old church, the lad of fourteen should give his heart to God and become the subject of a most gracious experience of salvation. Later, under the ministry of Mrs. Miranda Vornholtz and her daughter, he professed entire sanctification and dedicated his life to the ministry.

Brother McIntire spent four years or more in preparation for his life's work in Kentucky Wesleyan College, being there from 1887 to 1893, when the spiritual life of the institution was very pronounced. After teaching for a while, he was admitted on trial in the Kentucky Conference in September, 1894. He spent his first year in the Conference as junior preacher to the writer on the Stanford and McKendree charge. We had known each other from childhood. Stanford and McKendree were then in the midst of a great revival. It was a joy to have Brother McIntire as a helper in the work and as an inmate in our home. We found him a young man of deep piety, of pleasing personality and with a remarkable gift for making and holding friends. We never knew a man who could enter a home with greater ease, and so quickly and completely command the confidence and affections of the family. People not only respected him, they loved him. And this affection and confidence were not confined to members of his own congregation, but were shared by people of other denominations.

Brother McIntire's second year was spent in the Alexandria Circuit as assistant to Rev. J. W. Gardiner. He then served New Columbus one year; Visalia, two years; London, Somerset, and Flemingsburg four years each; Carrollton one year; Harrodsburg four years, and he had almost completed his fifth year at Epworth Church, Lexington, when, on the 4th of May, 1921, his useful career was suddenly ended by a heart attack. Death came without warning, with not a moment in which to adjust his affairs or to say farewell to his loved ones.

Brother McIntire was devoted to his work and was successful in it. He lead many to Christ. He was especially successful in dealing with children. The Sunday School was his special field. To him it was not only a place for teaching and learning God's word, but he made it both a field and an agency for evangelism. He was expert in the use of the ritual of the Church. We have never known a man who could so effectively conduct a baptismal service or receive a class into membership. He loved children and he loved flowers. Wherever he lived he embowered the parsonage and church with rare plants and beautiful blossoms. In the matter of decorating he was an artist.

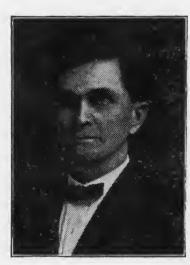

Brother McIntire was pre-eminently a pastor. Friendly and agreeable in his manner, with a rare gift of becoming familiar without becoming offensive, he drew people to him and then drew them to his Lord. The home was the scene of his greatest triumphs. He preached the gospel there with as much effectiveness as he preached it in the pulpit. He could enter into all the experiencs of a home, share its joys, take its sorrows upon his own heart, show a tender interest in all that concerned it, and thus represent the Christ who went about doing good. His pastoral work was continually supplementing and rounding out his ministrations of the Sabbath day. We may have greater preachers among us, but we have no greater pastor than was F. T. McIntire.

In November, 1896, in the Methodist Church at Winchester, Ky., the writer married Brother McIntire to Miss Nancy Bean, who survives him. One daughter, Katherine, now in the bloom of young womanhood, has blessed this union. Sister McIntire has been a true helper of her husband, sharing with him all his labor, of love, sacrificing as he sacrificed, striving hard to make and maintain his home and to aid him in the work that burdened his heart. The daughter was idolized by him. May both be continuously conscious of the heavenly Father's care and receive the comfort and grace which He alone can give. In the death of Franklin Taylor McIntire, we have lost a good and useful man. He has entered upon his reward, and we will follow on.

The death knell sounded Sunday morning, May 8, 1921, and Rev. Cash Wilson Williams answered the roll call in the world where reward comes for service rendered in this earthly realm.

REV. CASH WILSON WILLIAMS.

The death knell sounded Sunday morning, May 8, 1921, and Rev. Cash Wilson Williams answered the roll call in the world where reward comes for service rendered in this earthly realm.

Bro. Williams was born at Campbellsburg, Ky., October 15, 1867. He was the son of M. V. and Mary Williams. He was married February 1895 to Miss Jennie Scott, who was the daughter of Rev. Thos. Scott, one of our honored local preachers, then residing at Jellico, Tenn. Bro. and Sister Williams had two sons, one of which survives, LaRoy C. I was called to Germantown, Ky., at the request of Bro. Williams some days before his death and on that occasion he asked that he and I might be left alone for a while. When alone with him he said, "I am going over yonder soon and I want you to preach my funeral." I said. "Bro. Williams. what are your prospects?" and he, with his face shining with the radiant glow of the spirit of his Lord, said, "As bright as the noon-day sun."

I was intimately associated with him. After holding his revival meetings for him, I always found him a true yoke fellow in the Gospel, a companionable friend and consecrated pastor.

He was a useful man, a good preacher, and a very gifted man in prayer. On special occasions I have thought he excelled any one in prayer. He had a good religious experience, believed and taught the doctrines of Methodism, lived a life above reproach, died in the full triumphs of faith and no doubt went home to glory and to God. He served our church as an itinerant preacher about nineteen years. He began at Hindman in 1902 where he served as supply one year. He was admitted on trial into the Kentucky Conference at Cynthiana, Ky., in 1903, and was sent to Hazel Green and Frenchburg, then West Liberty and Hazel Green, then College Hill, Corinth, Polsgrove, Oldham Circuit, Oddville, Hinton, Mt. Carmel and lastly at Germantown, where he died in the third year of his pastorate.

He was an energetic pastor and he and his good wife were held in highest esteem on their charges. The people of Germantown charge did all that loving hands could do to bring comfort to their suffering pastor and support to his sorrowing family. I held short services at the parsonage at Germantown, assisted by Rev. W. D. Welburn. A large crowd had gathered to pay the last tribute to the memory of their deceased pastor and pray God's blessing on the sorrowing family.

We carried the remains to Cynthiana Methodist Church where I conducted his funeral, assisted by his Presiding Elder, Rev. F. B. Jones, and Rev. M. T. Chandler. A tremendous crowd of people were present from Cynthiana and the charges surrounding there which he had served, which only told more thoroughly that his friends were legion. He was buried by the Masonic Fraternity in Battle Grove cemetery at Cynthiana, Ky.

We cherish his memory here, we commend his soul to Gcd who gave it.

He is survived by his widow and son LaRcy, a sister, Mrs. Ella Booth, of Worthville, Ky., to whom we extend sympathy and Tray that the God of all grace may comfort. In Cash Williams we have lost an honorable and upright man and a useful preacher from our ranks. His name on the roll of our Conference does not get the accustomed response but he answers the roll over there.

April 6, 1862, September 24, 1920.

A native of Kentucky, having first seen the light near Mt. Olivet, he spent the greater part of his life at and near the place of his birth. A boy naturally of an inquiring mind, he early developed the inherent desire for information, and pursued his studies both at school and at home with diligent assiduity, and made rapid progress, out-classing many boys of as good or better chances than himself, thus laying the foundation, and gathering the fundamentals, which were to show him the workman to be in the coming years. Rising early and doing the chores of the boy of the family with dispatch and regularity, he learned in his early boyhood those sterling traits of character, calculated to make him hardy and strong for the battles of life he was destined to fight in the coming years.

When only a youth he had so far advanced in the common branches of his native English that he procured a certificate from the county and engaged in this most noble profession, and continued for some years giving most satisfactory assurances to the reasonable patrons that they had made no mistake in employing so youthful a teacher. While still a teacher he began reading law and giving close attention especially to Blackstone, and became familiar with the intricate forms of this intellectual and splendid profession. He was now honored by his constituency, and placed in charge of the legal affairs of his county as Attorney at Law, which position he held for two terms. Honor, and the emoluments of steadily following the legal profession, he was most willing to relinquish, to listen to and obey the voice of Him who is the Author of all law, and the Revealer of prophecy. He heard a voice saying, "Whom shall I send and who will go for us?" He answered, "Here am I, send me."

He offered himself to the Church, joining the Kentucky Annual Conference some twenty years ago and made one of the faithful and diligent pastors, serving the out-of-the-way places, listening to the advice of his brethren older in years and experience than himself, and coming through unchallenged and unscathed, in his ministerial functions, hearing at each successive session, "Nothing against him." He would take the appointments, many others would not desire, not being self-supporting, and go on to them, many times his faithful wife following him thereto, and preach and hold meetings, and work with his hands to supplement his small allowance, and come up to the Annual Session with a smiling face, ready to obey another order. He was stationed at Corbin, a decade and a half ago, when this scribe was the presiding elder of the Danville District, and he served most acceptably until his health failed and he surrendered his charge and went to his home, a short distance above Maysville, where he continued to reside until his call to leave the labor and come into a higher sphere.

Brother Word was admitted on trial in the Kentucky Conference in 1894 and served the following charges: Kenny Mission, two years; Tollesboro, Frenchburg, Sherburn, and Hazel Green, each one year; Fairview and Corbin, each one year. He was then compelled because of ill health to take a supernumerary relation. In 1909-11 he served California Circuit, but was unable longer to be effective.

He had a most estimable woman for his wife—a preacher's wife.

She was willing to accompany him to the hardest charges, or stay with the children and allow him to go, just as he might think best for the common good. Their home was ideal, the home of a Methodist preacher. The door was always open for the tired and discouraged pilgrim, man, woman, boy or girl. It was their delight to feed the hungry and encourage the depressed and broken hearted. It was just the place for a preacher to find a sweet asylum to rest, read and be at home. And at last it all reduces itself to this, the worth placed on the home by the people who occupy it, and the hallowed and sacred influences emanating from it, to those who live in it and who may be favored by coming under its divine, holy influences. The sons and daughters, left by this brave man of the cross, reflect the care and diligence, with which they were brought up "in the fear and admonition of the Lord," and taught to be industrious and frugal in their work and business among men.

He was a speaker of marked ability, yet of a different bearing, not being ready to assume the position of prophet when in the presence of his brethren, but spoke as one having authority when once getting the consent of his mind that it was his time, and duty to take charge. He spoke with much ease and fluency, using his legal information together with a well chosen vocabulary, a retentive mind, and an honest and prayerful investigation of the Holy Bible, bearing on the topic under consideration. He had no use for notes or if having he left them at home for safe keeping. Having a well thought out plan he entered into his subject and talked to his interested listeners, in a practical, interesting way, never failing to leave them with nuggets, beautiful and wholesome, for intellectual and spiritual edification.

He, "living by the side of the road, was the friend of man." He was my friend, and showed himself friendly. I was his pastor for three years and was with him frequently during that time. I was often in his home and was made welcome to all in his possession, at any and all times. He was the superintendent of the Sunday School at Concord, and accompanied by his wife and smaller children, he would remain for the preaching hour. He took much delight in the service, sitting with his good wife close to the front and paying the closest attention to all that was said, and never failing to have a kindly word to say to the pastor after the benediction. He would often tell me how he enjoyed the Gospel as it fell from my lips, and that he expected to hear good reports from me as the "years come and go."

How different now. His companion told them she was going, just about three years before his summons. They could not believe it, but she said she must tell them good-by, and ceased at once to work and live. He stood at the open grave in the beautiful cemetery, near Maysville, surrounded by his family and looked at the silent face of the wife of his youth for the last time. And then later on, a son, quiet, but afflicted, was placed by the sleeping dust of his mother, and a new wound opened in the heart of Brother Word.

But he was soon to go over himself and view that land and see those who had gone before him. He took a superannuate relation at the session of the Conference preceding his departure. How little did I think that would be my last time to look on his face in this life. He took the long journey the same month, and the strong mind was liberated from the weak body and he went to live in that beautiful home he had so often told the people about, which had as occupants, together with the glorified body of his Lord, and millions of the redeemed, his own precious wife and quiet boy.

W. D. Welburn and J. J. Dickey, pastors at Maysville, were with the family in the last sad rights, to mingle their heart-felt sympathy with the sons and daughters, and speak the words of comfort in the hours of bereavement. He sleeps by the side of her who was so true to him, and who knew the sacrifices of the journey of the wife of an itinerant preacher, overlooking the beautiful Ohio, awaiting the Resurrection. "Blessed are they who sleep in Jesus," "well done good and faithful servant."

"Death is the crown of life! It wounds to cure; we fall, we rise, we reign! Spring from our fetters, fasten in the skies, Where blooming Eden withers in our sight, Death gives us more than was in Eden lost; The king of terrors is the prince of peace."

"The last end
Of the good man is peace. How calm the exit!
Night-dews fall not more gently to the ground,
Nor weary worn-out winds, expire so soft."

J. A. SIMPSON.

MRS. MARTHA TAYLOR MINOR.

On November 9, 1920, this good woman passed from the finite into the infinite presence of God. She was born November 7, 1828, near Gravel Switch, Ky., on the North Rolling Fork on the farm now owned by W. A. Rawlings and Taylor Rawlings. She had reached the ripe old age of ninety-two and was reasonably active up to the time of her death. She was the eldest daughter of Banister and Elizabeth Guthrie Taylor. She was married to the Rev. James C. Minor in September, 1846. She was a loving, faithful, preacher's wife, and walked side by side with him until his death in 1909.

Unto this union was born one son, Dr. John Minor, who died in his twenty-seventh year. Her husband, the Rev. James C. Minor, was one of the leading traveling preachers in the Kentucky Conference and served many charges, including Shelbyville, Taylorsville, Carrollton, Bedford, California, Augusta, and many others. After many faithful years of service in the Conference they located at California, Ky., where they lived in their own home until her husbands death, after which event she moved to Lebanon, Ky., where she resided until she passed to the great beyond.

After her husband's death, and having no living children her great desire was to do the most good possible with whatever of worldly possessions she had; and in accordance therewith she gave $5,000.00 to Logan College at Russellville, Ky., and property valued at $2,500.00 in equal shares to the Methodist Orphans' Home, at Louisville, Ky., and the Kentucky Wesleyan College at Winchester, Ky.

Mrs. Minor was socially inclined and had many friends, in all the places where she had lived. She was always looking for some opportunity of performing a kind act. It can be truly said of her that "She rests from her labors and her deeds do follow her." After funeral services conducted by the Rev. J. G. Akin, assisted by Dr. A. P. Lyon and the Rev. W. V. Cropper, she was laid to rest at Shelbyville, Ky., beside her husband and son.

MRS. MAMIE POLLARD STRUVE.

Was born at Frankfort, Ky., March 18, 1863; the daughter of John D. and Nancy H. Pollard. Her father died when she was but twelve years of age. Her education was received chiefly from a very excellent private seminary, and her proficiency was recognized in that she was awarded a State Certificate, preparatory to teaching, at the age of sixteen. One of her first schools was taught near Berry, and while teaching here, she first met her future husband—then a student with Dr. J. Taylor Stewart.

In a religious meeting, held in 1882, both lives were transformed, and not long after, September 7, 1883, she was married to the Rev. Felix K. Struve. September 12th, the Annual Conference met in the city of Cynthiana, Ky. From that Conference the young couple received their first appointment—and during that year they received the munificent sum of some two hundred dollars for their support. For thirty-seven years, as the wife of an itinerant Methodist preacher, she shared the joys and sorrows, hardships and sacrifices of the chosen calling. Always ready and willing, capable and consecrated, she gave mighty help to her husband's task. Some of her work in the church still abides, and numerous persons will so bear testimony. Modest, gentle and unselfish, she avoided ostentation.

Mrs. Struve was exceptionally skillful in needlework, to which she gave largely of her spare moments—then gave the finished article to some friend. Her very last work, lying abed, was the completion of a beautiful sweater, a love token for another. The turning of the itinerant wheels brought them again to Cynthiana, this time in September, 1901. During this four year pastorate of her husband, the new church was builded; next, to Maysville, Ashland, the Huntington District, Clarksburg, W. Va., returning to Kentucky seven years ago.

A little more than a year ago, the Conference again assigned her husband to Cynthiana. Mrs. Struve's mother was critically ill, passing to the other land in January, 1919. Her long illness, demanding unremitting attention, made too heavy inroads upon her daughter's

A little more than a year ago, the Conference again assigned her husband to Cynthiana. Mrs. Struve's mother was critically ill, passing to the other land in January, 1919. Her long illness, demanding unremitting attention, made too heavy inroads upon her daughter's strength. Because of her devotion to her mother, her own state of health was disregarded, so that a major operation, February 7, 1920, gave but temporary extension of life. A few short, happy months, she and her husband lived and planned, looking to some years of unmixed happiness. But it was not so to be! Her malady progressed with relentless rapidity, and after a few short weeks, she went with unwavering faith, and joyous anticipation to her well merited reward.

Three times she had faced death; three times she and her husband "talked over" the last details, and there was neither fear nor regret at going to the "other side of life." Often she remarked, "I had rather live in Cynthiana than any place in the world; and I am sure there is no better place to die." At 8:30 p. m., October 30th, her desire found a happy fruition.

Unfailing friends, kindly ministries beyond all expectations, together with lavish supplies of beautiful flowers, contributed to make her last days on earth the most enjoyable possible.

The husband, two children, daughter and son, Mrs. John B. Payne, and L. Dudley, living in West Virginia, feel heaviest this visitation of sorrow. But truly is it said, "Earth has no sorrow heaven cannot heal."

In Battle Grove Cemetery, beside her mother, shall she sleep until that Day! The funeral services were held in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Cynthiana, Ky., by Rev. M. T. Chandler.

Resolutions of appreciation of her services rendered as president of the W. M. S. at Crestwood, Irvine, and Cynthiana societies, were sent to the family after her passing.
